Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4-10, 12-17are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Murata [US 2002/0009988].

Regarding claim 1, Murata discloses an apparatus [figure 1] comprising an electronic, preprogrammed device [3] which produces and broadcasts a signal [propitious information]. These signals cue the user by encouraging them to engage in an activity.

Regarding claims 4-6, Murata disclose wherein the devices [3] are mobile terminals.

Regarding claim 7, see claim 1.

Regarding claim 8, Murata disclose means to produce and broadcast sound in the device and means to synchronize the broadcast of said sound [audio information are outputted on a speaker of devices 3, such as sutra sound information in para [0071]].

Regarding claim 9, Murata discloses means produce images in the devices and means to synchronize the display of said image [graphical information are outputted on the devices 3, such as graphical information of figures 9-14].

Regarding claim 10, the method steps are inherent to the disclosed structural limitations, see claim 1.

Regarding claims 12-14, the method steps are inherent to the disclosed structural limitations, see claims 4-6.

Regarding claim 15, the method steps are inherent to the disclosed structural limitations, see claim 7.

Regarding claim 16, the method steps are inherent to the disclosed structural limitations, see claim 8.

Regarding claim 17, the method steps are inherent to the disclosed structural limitations, see claim 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Application/Control Number: 10/618,981

Art Unit: 2841

Claims 2-3 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murata in view of Howard et al. [US 2004/0264301].

Regarding claims 2-3, Murata disclose the claimed invention except for wherein the mobile terminals being watches.

Howard et al. disclose an apparatus [figure 1] comprises a plurality of portable terminals wherein on type of the terminal is in form of a watch.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the teachings of Howard et al. with Murata for the purpose of providing a smaller wearable information device.

Regarding claim 11, the method steps are necessitated by the disclosed apparatus structure, see claims 2-3.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gehlot [US 6,249,222]; Narayanaswami [US 6,556,222]; Birbach et al. [US 2003/0058752].
